CHAMPION GANS GIVES UP THE WELTER TITLE

Negro Says He Is Losing Flesh and Will in the Future Fight Only in the Lightweight Division.

JOE GANS announces his retirement from the welterweight class. He gives up the welterweight title, and says that he is getting lighter as he grows older, and will never fight again above the lightweight limit.

WHY THERE WILL BE NO RACE FOR CUP NEXT YEAR

Sir Thomas Lipton is a rare sportsman. That's what yachtsmen about town are saying today of the Irish baron for delaying his cup challenge until 1908.

On his arrival here, however, Sir Thomas was contented not particularly with lack of interest of a sportsman when it comes to the American boat when one tries to knock a chip off the side of a colossus.

THOMAS is wonderfully well built for fighting. He has a heavy weight of arms and shoulders, a good body and light legs. He is fast and very clever, and he can hit like Tommy Ryan.

UP in Hamilton, Canada, the home of Marathon Winner Sherrin, an Indian has just won the great annual road race. The distance is 19 miles 18 yards.

HERN is another Indian. He seems to be some relation of Noko, the Indian who was coming from Toronto but never arrived.

THE Indians are not alone in claiming records. Read this from Japan: A student in one of the great universities here has broken two world records in sprinting.

Did This Boxer Cause Gans to Relinquish Welter Crown?

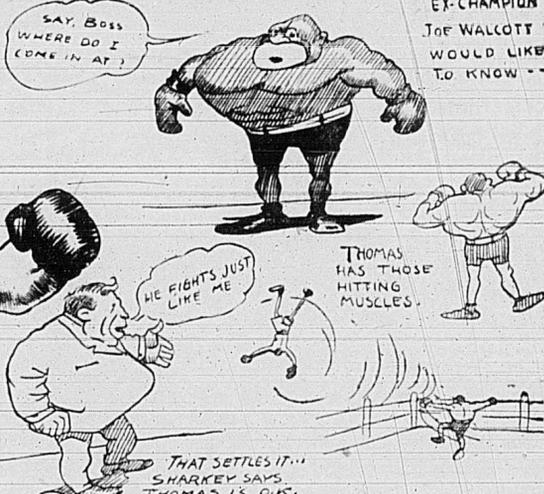

Joe Gans will stick to the lightweight pruned tree after this. It's easier picking.
